Economic boost

The McPhillamys Gold Project will provide a major economic boost to Blayney and the Central West.

The project will bring an additional $67 million in direct and indirect household income to the regional economies of Blayney, Bathurst, Cabonne and Orange local government areas, annually.

With new jobs and new people coming to the area, the flow-on effect from the project will be significant.

McPhillamys will create business opportunities for existing and new businesses. The mine and the people it employs will require a wide range of goods and services.

Local opportunities

Regis is keen to work with businesses, councils and education and training organisations to maximise local opportunities and manage employment demand.

The aim is not to compete with or adversely impact their activities if the mine goes ahead. Our aim is to support sustainable, local businesses wherever possible.

How to get involved

With the project assessment still continuing, a possible start date is some time away.

During this time Regis will continue to work with local businesses, training providers and Councils to prepare for the opportunities that will be provided if the project is approved.
