

Project Update

*Tony McPaul
Manager
Special Projects*

Comings and goings

This month we farewell our longest-serving team member, Stakeholder Engagement Officer Chris Roach, who is moving on after 10 years on the project. And we welcome Kath Logan to the new role of External Relations Manager.

Chris has made an enormous contribution since joining the Project in 2013. He has covered many kilometres, and made many friends in that time.

"I have enjoyed it all, from discussions with neighbours over the fence or the bonnet of a Toyota, to excited school children and enthusiastic locals," Chris said, "I'm proud to have contributed to a project that is close to my heart and a company I hold in high regard."

Chris will enjoy some time off before taking up a new role on the Inland Rail Project with ARTC. We wish him the very best for the future.

Our new External Relations Manager is Kath Logan, a Central West local well-known to many in the community.

Kath has worked extensively in infrastructure and mining including senior roles with TransGrid, Clean Teq Sunrise and the NSW Department of Finance and Services. Kath is already out and about meeting project stakeholders and getting to know more about the local community.

"I'm pleased to be joining the McPhillamys team and am looking forward to being part of the project and the benefits it will deliver to Blayney and the region," Kath said.

Office reopening

After months of working remotely we're pleased to be reopening our Blayney office on Monday 29 November. Staff and visitors will be required to comply with strict Covid safety protocols to minimise risk to the community.

Community meeting

The McPhillamys Community Consultative Committee (CCC) will meet next week, Monday 22 November, in Blayney.

If you have questions or issues to raise please contact any of the CCC members. See our website for CCC information and member contact details:
www.mcphillamysgold.com

Regards,

Tony McPaul
Manager Special Projects
Regis Resources

Above: (Top) Kath Logan, the new External Relations Manager for McPhillamys and (below) our departing Stakeholder Liaison Officer, Chris Roach.