

How will McPhillamys help Blayney and the Central West?

Regis Resources is seeking approval for the McPhillamys Gold Project — an open cut gold mine located at Kings Plains, near Blayney, NSW. The project will create 480 jobs in construction and another 260 per year over the ten years of mining operations. It will also create education and training opportunities for local people, and provide a big boost for local and regional businesses.

Please show your support

The McPhillamys Project has strong community support and that support is vital to getting approval for the project. The project will be decided by the NSW Independent Planning Commission (IPC). As part of the IPC process, submissions will be considered from members of the public. You can do a written submission and you can register to speak at the public hearing which will take place to consider the project. The IPC considers written and spoken submissions equally. You can get more information from the IPC website: <https://www.ipcn.nsw.gov.au/engage-with-us>

Your written submission can be as long or as short as you want and should include why this project is important to you, your family, Blayney and the Central West. You can also ask for your submission to be private, so your name, address or business details will not be published. If you need help making a submission to the IPC, call in to our office in Blayney or get in touch via our contact details below.

Benefits of the Project

Below are some ways that the project is expected to benefit Blayney and surrounding communities. These can be included in your submission. Along with any other reasons why you'd like to support McPhillamys.
