Project update

The McPhillamys team is in full swing after the Christmas break and progressing work on the project's Definitive Feasibility Study (DFS).

The DFS is a detailed report covering the technical, economic and environmental aspects of the project. It provides a thorough analysis of all aspects required prior to final Board approval for the project.

Improving native bush

Our team has also been working on plans to improve large tracts of native bush and grasslands at the Aziel property (just south of Blayney) which is owned by Regis.

Get in touch with us

Our community relations team is always available to meet with people and answer questions about the project.

They are currently working with close neighbours to finalise mitigation plans and locations for environmental monitoring equipment.

If you have any questions about the project please get in touch or call in to our Blayney office (contact details below) or go to: www.mcphillamysgold.com
